

Introduction

The R&A's Rules Education programme consists of three levels. The aim of the programme is to arm participants with knowledge of the Rules. The Schools are designed to provide basic instructions to those newer to the game, as well as to meet the demands of more experienced officials looking for tournament specific guidance.

The three levels of the Rules Education programme are as follows:

- Level 1 Introductory Rules School
- Level 2 Rules School
- Level 3 Tournament Administrators and Referees School

After attending each level, participants are required to sit for an exam, which gives them the opportunity to test their grasp of the newly acquired knowledge. The exams and qualifications are recognised by R&A and its jurisdictions.

The Society of Singapore Golfers (SSG) is working in conjunction with the national governing body, Singapore Golf Association (SGA), to organise and conduct the R&A Level 1 Introductory Rules School for its members and members of the public.
